The screenshot displays the Outlook interface with the 'Office Add-ins' pane open. The pane title is 'Add-Ins for Outlook' and includes a warning: 'Add-ins may access personal information. By turning an add-in on, you agree to its License Terms and Privacy Policy.' Below this is a search bar and a 'Suggested for you' dropdown. The list of add-ins includes:

- Starbucks for Outlook: Send Starbucks eGift Cards and schedule meetings at Starbucks® stores, right through Outlook. (Toggle: On)
- Zomato - Restaurant Finder: Discover great places to eat at, and share restaurant information with your colleagues and friends. (Toggle: On)
- PayPal for Outlook: Get PayPal for Outlook and start sending money the safer, more secure way... right from your email. (Toggle: On)
- Yelp: Yelp will allow you to find great businesses and share them in email quickly with friends. (Toggle: On)

The background shows an email from 'Belinda Newman' with the subject 'Sports statistics' and a date of '6/22/16'. The top navigation bar includes 'Home', 'Organize', and 'Tools' tabs. The right sidebar shows a list of add-ins (Store, Evernote, Open Boomerang, Reply with eGift) and an email preview for '2000 Launch Imagery'.
